

DR. HUBERT J.P. SCHOEMAKER (1950-2006)

Hubert J.P. Schoemaker led a life of almost mythical proportions. Whether he was competing as a national caliber athlete, serving as a pioneering scientist or community leader, building firms as an immensely successful entrepreneur, or even just surviving – for a record number of years – as a cancer patient, Hubert consistently pulled off outsized achievements.

Through his infectious optimism and drive to succeed, Centocor became one of the nation's most successful biotechnology companies with products that have improved the lives of many. His co-founding of the Eastern Technology Council and Technology Leaders Venture Fund provided a platform through which he supported the growth of regional high technology companies, mentored executives, and helped the Delaware Valley become a “hotspot” for biotechnology. Always living on the edge of discovery, Hubert later founded Neuronyx, a company developing adult stem cell-based therapeutics for a number of diseases. He did all this with an unforgettable “my cup runneth over” attitude despite his disabling illness. Hubert literally set out to help millions – and he succeeded. Hubert's passion and generosity were especially focused on Melmark, where his eldest daughter, Maureen, has resided for the past twenty-five years.

Love of art and music, of family and friends, and an ebullient and generous personality were all a part of this legendary man.

Hubert did more than achieve, He loved.

Fellow Colleagues:

I am delighted to be Honorary Chairman of the inaugural Hubert J.P. Schoemaker Classic to be held on Monday, October 30, 2006. In addition to my close personal friendship with Hubert, we shared a similar vision about creating and developing the Philadelphia region as a world class center of excellence for the biotech and pharmaceutical industries. Hubert epitomized the definition of a true leader and pioneer with his undying passion and spirit in making our area a haven for entrepreneurs and innovation.

The beneficiary of this event is Melmark, a comprehensive multi-service agency, which provides residential, educational, therapeutic, and recreational services for children and adults with developmental disabilities in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. Melmark's varied programs promote independence, increased self-awareness, and confidence, while offering participants opportunities to make friends and develop personal interests.

I appreciate the opportunity to be part of this event to honor Hubert's legacy and raise funds for a very worthwhile cause. Please join me in supporting the golf tournament and gala dinner and auction by participating as a corporate sponsor. Your participation will be instrumental in helping us keep Hubert's unique vision alive in our community.

Sincerely,

Jean-Pierre Garnier, Ph.D. Honorary Chairman
Chief Executive Officer, GlaxoSmithKline

This year's Hubert J.P. Schoemaker Classic Presented by GlaxoSmithKline will take place at one of the area's most exciting private country clubs - Waynesborough Country Club in Paoli, PA. Our tournament will enjoy Waynesborough's newly renovated clubhouse, which has a feel of a Chester County farmhouse and is undoubtedly the most spectacular in the Delaware Valley.

Combine this environment with a George Fazio classically designed course, which recently hosted the PGA Tour's SEI Pennsylvania Classic, and you have the making of a very special day. According to PGA Pros Tom Lehman, "Waynesborough is a fantastic course, fun to play and with a wonderful traditional look," and Loren Roberts, "One of the best new courses I've seen come on the Tour in a long time."
